Common Induction Standards

Volume discounts available for annual licences—please call for more information

This new course covers the six Common Induction Standards that form the basis of registration of all Adult Social Care staff. The common induction standards set out the basic facts that care workers need to know for their role in providing care and support to individuals in both domiciliary and residential settings, no matter what their needs may be.

The course acts as a foundation for all underpinning knowledge required for NVQ qualifications and all Social Care training. It is suitable for all those entering the Health and Social Care profession, as well as Health and Social Care staff who require induction training.

All candidates will receive a certificate upon completion.

Course units cover the six Common Induction Standards for Social Care:

- The principles of care
- The organisation and the role of the worker
- Safety at work
- Effective communication
- Recognition and response to abuse and neglect
- Development as a social care worker

This e-learning course is an extremely cost efficient, convenient and above all effective way for health & social care staff to undertake their induction.
